

REACTION PAPER

During the event at Asian College of Technology (ACT) on September 27, 2024, I had a fun and exciting experience, even though I had to stand throughout the program because there were no extra chairs available.

I was already feeling tired, but the lively and energetic atmosphere of the event distracted me from my fatigue. The performances, which included talented dancers and singers, were thoroughly enjoyable. One highlight was the question-and-answer session where students participated, making the event even more engaging and entertaining. Although standing was exhausting, the performances made me forget the discomfort. By the end of the event, I was glad I stayed and enjoyed everything

The supportive crowd, cheering and clapping for the performers, added to the excitement and made the overall experience memorable.
